The Elba City Council voted Tuesday night to remove the parking meters, hired two employees, approved the purchase of a lawnmower, and approved payment of over $18,000 in monthly bills.

All councilmen were present as the put in the parking limits was made by Councilman Cleo Hawkins and seconded by Councilman John Sharpless. Councilman Jimmy Wise opposed the motion when he was told it included the area now covered by maters also because it is a part of a master plan to replace the entire high school. The first phase will remove ten existing rooms that are in a bad state of repair and build back the 14 new rooms. Work should begin in early summer and is expected to take about a

The much-heralded census forms were mailed last week, and most folks got a short or long form. I was lucky and got the short form and some folks were even luckier and got nothing! About a month ago we got a sample copy of the long form and I was dreading trying to fill out one of those. Now that it is over with me, I just feel for those still struggling with the 6:20 p.m. - Caller reports

The Federal government is talking of cutting back on spending. . . the State of Alabama is talking of cutting back on spending. . . Elba is still going full blast ahead with disposing of tax money. Tuesday night two additional people were hired (their time was up on the Federally-funded CETA), and the monthly bills submitted to the Council for payment were a whopping $18,000! We moaned and groaned when these bills totaled $12,000, but now we just brace for next month's total. 6:26 p.m. - Woman calls to Frankly we are afraid to ask about the total amount being spent, and would rather be ignorant of the expenditures that are not on the monthly list.

It is almost Easter and that means the last of the cool weather. We follow the old idea of one last cool snap around Easter, and then summer weather will prevail. Just as soon as that magic time passes, we will cut off the pilot lights in our gas heaters and stop those monthly bills. Jimmy Carter would be proud of ye ole editor for all the conserving I have done on gas

The nutrition program in Elba is presently feeding about 40 people a day. The cost of continuing this program has been questioned by some local citizens, and frankly we join with them. Some rough figures indicate that with paying four people for eight hours work a day (?) we will spend over $24,000 a year. They serve the food that comes here already prepared. If we got the forty meals five days a week with no holidays . . . that is a total of 10,400 meals a year. Divide this into the $24,000 labor cost and we are paying over two dollars just to dip each of the forty meals from a container and hand it to someone. Add to this the cost of electricity, etc., and the city is paying through the nose for benefits to 40 people, and it is questionable if the cost is justified to the taxpayers or to those eating the Noon meal.

it is fishing time in the South, but the constant rain has kept folks like me from taking advantage of the weekends on the water. If it is not raining, the water is so muddy from yesterday's rain that the fish can't see or smell our bait. But again, April is here, and things are going to get better.

The Alabama legislature is loaded with problems and frankly I'don't know how they can solve them all. Probably there will be several special sessions this summer as the lawmakers struggle with Medicare, prisons, mental health and education -- all of which are in money binds. We sure wouldn't like to swap places with any one of our legislators.

The Special Olympics were held at the Elba High football field this week, and the kids really gave it everything they had. Many volunteers devoted their time to help make the program a success, and the smiles on the faces of the kids were more than enough payment. The theme of Special Olympics is "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." And this theme is a motto all athletes should Congratulations to all the competitors!

The high school baseball season is here, and as a matter of fact, Elba has already played one game. The recent rainy weather kept the team from practicing until this week, and it may take a while to put things together; but I look for 'm to have a competitive team and win some games. There is no admission to the games, so check the schedule and come out and watch a game

A lot of football jamborees were held in the past two weeks, and so were a lot of intrasquad games. Opp looked tough in disposing of Ozark 14-0, and were equally essive despite dropping an 8-3 decision to Northview. Troy lost to both Dothan and Northview, but played good solid ball and should be improved next season. Andalusia didn't play in a jamboree, but reportedly had a real good intrasquad game. The Bulldogs' new coach Rick Rhoades stated it was a good spring and he expects to have a good club. What else is new?

The Intercollegiate Frisbee Tournament was held back in February in Tampa, Florida, and representing Troy State was Elba's own Joe Morrow. Joe won his competition at Troy and advanced to the National Tourney, and I guess he can throw a frisbee as good as he can throw a baseball.

If you think softball season is almost here you're wrong! It is here. There is a tournament this weekend at Woodland Grove, next weekend at Zion Chapel, the next weekend at Elba, and then the season starts. I told ya so . . .

Boating News

In the next few weeks many boaters will be venturing on the waters of Alabama for the first time after taking their boats out of storage after a long winter.

Marine Police Director William B. Garner said Tuesday that many boaters, in the enthusiasm of the first spring cruise, overlook some important necessities that would insure a pleasant day's outing.

First things first: Is your boat currently registered? Boat owners may register their vessels at the offices of the Judges of Probate, the fice or directly with the Marine Police Division headquarters in Montgomery. You must have the proper registration papers on board and the current year's decal must be displayed on both sides of the bow of the boat. How about personal flotation devices? Do you have one on board for each occupant of the boat, and are these devices in good condition? Have you replaced any old fuel left over from last year? Check your fire extinguisher if it's required. Now, let's check your registration certificate again Are all blocks properly filled in with the correct information. Remember, carry your certificate on board whenever your vessel is in opera-
